

Case Study

Coxhoe Primary School

A Way to Share

Coxhoe Primary School is well-known for its 'share all' approach to learning resources. For the last 6 years they have developed and grown the school website, turning it into a free library of learning material. Whilst hugely popular with teachers worldwide, the website was hard to navigate and expensive to update, meaning even the children couldn't appreciate the valuable content it contained.

Regular Use

Coxhoe primary school decided it was time for a change; and began looking for a website solution which would be popular with teachers, pupils and parents alike. With over 11 million hits in 6 years, Coxhoe were keen to maintain the high Google ranks of the existing site and wanted to ensure previously saved links would all still be valid, minimising disruption to other schools that regularly use the Coxhoe website.

Edit the Website from Coxhoe chose School Jotter to design, host and maintain the new school website. The CMS allows Coxhoe to easily make changes to the new website. Coxhoe's staff can edit the site from anywhere with an internet connection and everyone can help out, as no technical skills are needed to use School Jotter.

Favourite Features

Coxhoe's favourite feature of School Jotter is the photo slideshows that can now be added to the website. Over the years Coxhoe have been collecting photographs of everything, allowing the school to cover the walls in fantastic reminders of all the great things the children at Coxhoe have achieved. The staff are thrilled they now have a way to share these great memories with those who can't visit the school and have created a photo slideshow in School Jotter for each year group which they will update every time they have a new picture.

Established in 2003, Webanywhere began as a school website design company. Since then we've expanded our product range to include VLEs, e-portfolios and other e-learning tools, alongside curricular content. We're an official Moodle Partner in the UK, USA and Poland, and a Platinum Totara Partner, as well as a Google Apps Authorised Reseller.

Our product range supports schools in improving key metrics such as pupil achievement, quality of teaching, effective leadership and behavioural standards. School Jotter, our modular school website package, is simple and easy to use and allows schools to add to, and update, their own website easily and quickly, as well as offering a host of apps to extend its functionality.

0800 862 0131
education@webanywhere.co.uk
www.webanywhere.co.uk